Many people visit India because of its delicious food. There are some rules for everyone to follow when they eat in India. First, Indians eat with their right hands. Only use your right hand when you eat. Keep your left hand by your side, and do not put it on the table. Second, don't pass food to people with your left hand. This is because Indian people think the right hand is clean and the left hand is dirty. Third, only touch your own food, and never touch other people's food. When you touch their food, it becomes dirty in their eyes. Follow these rules, and you can enjoy Indian food with Indians!
