On Teachers' Day, we thank our teachers for their hard work. We also celebrate this day to remember Confucius, the great Chinese teacher from 2,500 years ago. But, the first Teachers' Day was not on Confucius's birthday, and it was not about thanking our teachers.

In 1930, teachers celebrated the first Teachers' Day in Nanjing. But there was nothing to celebrate. Teachers were low-paid work and in terrible conditions. These teachers took this chance to shout out their problems. They had Teachers' Day on June 6 because the date was easy to remember and near the end of the school year. In 1939, the government made Teachers' Day a national holiday. However, it was on August 27, and the day was Confucius's birthday.

But the government was wrong about the date of Confucius's birthday. In 1952, people found out he was in fact born on September 28.

Dear Matt,

I'm now in India with my friend, Ben. It's cool here in winter. The weather is just lovely. Yesterday, we were on a train for about seven hours. It was very crowded on the train, and we didn't have a seat. But you know what? A man and his son gave their seats to us. They were so kind. Also, Ben and I bought hats in a shop near our hotel. Ben's is black, and mine is yellow. I bought one for you as a gift, too. Maybe we can take a trip here together next year. India is a really beautiful place.

Your friend,
